

Spanish
AS level

General Introduction

Welcome to your AS level Spanish course. This Introduction should provide you with all the information you need to make a successful start to your studies.

The Specification (or Syllabus)

This course has been designed to give you a full and thorough preparation for the AS or A-level Spanish specification, set by Pearson Edexcel. The specification at AS and A-level is assessed by examination only; there is no coursework. The AS qualification no longer counts towards the A-level. AS students can go on to take the A-level in Year 2, but the AS qualification will not count towards the A-level.

The Subject Code for entry to the AS level award is 8SP0.

The Subject Code for entry to the A level award is 9SP0.

Private Candidates

The Edexcel Pearson specification is open to private candidates. Private candidates should contact Edexcel for a copy of 'Information for Private Candidates' or access the information online at www.ool.co.uk/0001sa.

Course Content

The AS course has three topic modules which correspond to the Edexcel AS specification. Each module is divided into sub-topics, making fifteen sub-topics in all. Each of the first twelve lessons looks at one of these sub-topics (see Arrangement of Lessons above). Two additional questions look at the literature choice, Bodas de sangre, by Lorca. Three additional lessons teach skills to help you prepare for the AS examination. At the end of the course there is a Spanish Grammar Glossary, which gives definitions of all the grammar required at AS.

The course aims to build on IGCSE Spanish skills, and is progressive. It is better to work steadily through the course starting at Lesson One than to dip into it at random, as each successive lesson builds on skills acquired in previous lessons. Module One aims to revise some GCSE work in the context of the AS specification.

The Edexcel specification outlines the AS topics and sub-topics, with bullet points suggesting some things to cover within each sub-topic. The texts in this course, together with those in the recommended text book (see below), cover most of these bullet points, but you will need to do some independent research as well, to extend your knowledge within each topic.

Lesson Activities

Each of Lessons 1-12 deals with three or four grammar points in addition to the sub-topics. There are always different activities, which practise the sub-topic and/or grammar covered. You will find answers at the end of each lesson. Depending on the activity, you will either be given definitive right answers or, in the case of more open-ended questions, a specimen, or suggested, answer. You do not send your answers to the exercises to your tutor.

Tutor-marked Assignments (TMAs)

There are seven tutor-marked assignments, at regular intervals in your Spanish AS level course. The questions are similar to Edexcel AS questions and the mark schemes are based on Edexcel guidelines. When you undertake a TMA it is advisable to follow the timing if suggested for each one so as to give yourself examination practice. Each of the first four TMAs is linked to the given topic. The final three TMAs are practice tests of Parts 1, 2 and 3 of the exam. TMA H is a Speaking (Part 3) Test, which is conducted over the phone with your tutor.

You should send all TMAs except TMA H to your tutor, who will return your marked script together with a set of Suggested Answers. Make sure you write your name clearly on your TMA answers, and that all the sheets of your assignment are firmly attached together

Some TMAs ends with some speaking practice. This is conducted over the phone with your tutor. You will need to arrange a mutually convenient time to do this. The speaking practice will be marked by your tutor and this mark will be included in your TMA total. You should aim to do the speaking practice as soon as possible after completing the rest of your TMA, as you will not receive your marked script and Suggested Answers until you have done so.

Experience shows that students who submit assignments are much more successful than those who don't. It is your primary means of gaining personal help with your studies, sorting out problems and maintaining motivation.

Look very carefully at every comment your tutor makes and try to understand why your tutor has given you particular marks. If you encounter problems when studying a lesson, please contact your tutor.

Course Materials

Text book

The A-level Spanish course is supplemented by the following textbook:

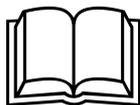

Edexcel A level Spanish (includes AS) (Edexcel A/AS Spanish) by Simon Barefoot, Mónica Morcillo Laiz, David Mee & Mike Thacker
Hodder Education, ISBN-13: 978-1471858314

You may wish to acquire this textbook to support your studies but please note that it does not include the answers to activities or self-assessment tests. These answers and other resources are to be found on the Dynamic website created by Hodder Education. Please see the Dynamic website for details (address below).

This textbook is exclusively endorsed by the Edexcel examination board and Pearson to teach their A-level specification, and you will find that it supplements the reading, speaking and writing exercises in this course.

While the OOL course provides extensive coverage of all aspects of the specification, it is important to back this up by working through this textbook as well. As you work through the lessons, you should extend your reading, listening, speaking and writing by looking up the references to the textbook in the course. These are given at the beginning of each lesson, and include the following symbol:

The written exercises in the textbook are for self-assessment and should not be sent to your tutor. The textbook also links to listening and other resources online at the Dynamic website.

How to use Dynamic

You will be notified when you have been registered as a User/Student on the Dynamic website. Please do not try to use these resources before you have received notification because you will not be able to gain access.

Once registered, you will be able to use the Dynamic resources for the remainder of the academic year. If you continue studying for another academic year, your registration should be extended – this should happen automatically.

Having registered, first go to the Dynamic login page at <http://my.dynamic-learning.co.uk>. Then you will need certain details in order to be able to log on, including a password. These details (which are unique to each registered student) will normally be sent to you shortly after your enrolment on this course.

Having logged on, you should then click on the Teaching and Learning Resources (for this textbook).

Dynamic includes a number of resources to supplement your course and also to practise speaking and listening. You will also find answers to textbook exercises on Dynamic.

Once you have logged on, you will see that the resources have been divided into “lessons” (with names like Sp AS Lesson 7) which correspond to the lessons in this course. Each “lesson” in Dynamic is a collection of resources – answers to tests, audio-recordings, etc – based on the matching sections of the textbook. The links are listed on p.2 of each lesson in this folder.

Do not expect to use all the resources in Dynamic. The exercises in the textbook are not compulsory and you may pick and choose which ones you want to do. In some cases you may compile and save your answers to textbook exercises within the Dynamic system or you may prefer to attempt them with pen and paper (i.e. offline). Your teacher will not view or mark the exercises you do in Dynamic – they are for self-assessment only.

Web-browsers: Dynamic works better with some web-browsers than others. It works well with (e.g.) Internet Explorer and Firefox but (at present) not so well with Chrome. If one browser does not allow access, please try another. But OOL cannot help with any technical queries relating to installing browsers, etc.

You may access Dynamic on more than one personal device, but please do not pass on your login details to other potential users – our licence is strictly limited in terms of the number of registered users and it will be apparent when unregistered users try to gain access.

Please remember that the Dynamic system was designed for use within schools where whole classes are attempting a specific exercise on a specific day, under the direction of their teacher. It is far from perfect for distance learners and it will take you a little while to discover how to get the most out of this tool (and the textbook on which it is based). So please be patient!

NB: Any queries about Dynamic should be addressed to the Dynamic helpdesk, of which details are given on the Dynamic site.

Literary Texts

You will also need to acquire the literary texts which are selected for this course. These are:

Year 1 (AS): Federico García Lorca: Bodas de sangre (1932, play) (pub: Ediciones Colihue; ISBN-13: 978-9505811106)

Year 2: Gabriel García Márquez: Crónica de una muerte anunciada (1981, novella) (pub: Klett Ernst; ISBN-13: 978-3125356146) (to be confirmed)

Edexcel does not specify an edition – the ones named above are the ones we recommend. If these are not obtainable, another edition will be satisfactory (but not a translation!).

Dictionary

In addition to the textbooks you also need a good dictionary. See the Resources section at the end of this General Introduction for suggestions.

The Listening CD

The Listening CD that comes with the course contains both practice and assessment listening materials. Each lesson has one listening practice activity. Use the CD to practise your listening skills as much as possible. All the audio-tracks can also be accessed online at <http://www.ool.co.uk/spanish-audio>.

Additional Practice

Grammar

The AS study year is notable for the introduction of almost all the grammar required at A level. Please see the Resources section at the end of this General Introduction for suggested grammar practice textbooks and the Tips and Techniques section for advice on keeping a verb book. Try and follow this and other advice as closely as possible. The Spanish Grammar Glossary will help you to understand the meanings of grammatical terms.

Vocabulary

The AS exam assesses a wide range of vocabulary related to each of the sub-topics; however, there is no specific vocabulary list for AS. Candidates are advised to build up their own vocabulary lists for each sub-topic from their own reading. See the Resources section at the end of this General Introduction for suggested vocabulary books and the Tips and Techniques section for advice on building up your vocabulary.

The four skills

The AS exam assesses all four language skills: listening, speaking, reading and writing. The OOL course teaches the four skills across the lessons, with opportunities to develop each one from the outset. It is therefore very important to do all the activities in each lesson, in order to practise all four skills. See the Tips and Techniques section for ways to approach activities testing these skills.

Exam format

It is a good idea to have prior knowledge of the format of the AS exams before you take them, and also to understand what the examiner is looking for. In addition to the guidance below, you are advised to read the detailed information about the format and mark schemes in Lessons 15 to 17, and to bookmark the A-level Spanish 'Key materials' page on the Edexcel website as this includes links to past papers and other useful exam information:

www.ool.co.uk/0007sa

Further Guidance

Don't just read through your lessons. Make notes as well. Note-taking has two main purposes:

1. to clarify and cement an idea in your own mind;

2. to give you something concise to come back to when you embark on assignments or revision.

Most distance learners find that they forget what they read, but the very act of writing something down helps you to focus on the underlying concept and to see how it relates to other aspects of the topic under consideration.

Don't underestimate the amount of time required for study if you are to achieve full understanding. Simply reading the lessons through once or twice is unlikely to be sufficient. You should go through them and follow up references to the textbook and syllabus. Learn also to use your dictionary and verb tables on a regular basis.

Do full justice to the self-assessment activities. It is all too easy to convince yourself that you have understood a particular point and go straight on to the next section without making a proper formal attempt at the activity.

Don't just work out the answers in your head. Put them down on a piece of paper or word process them on your computer. And if they are wrong, work out why they are wrong before going on to the next section. To do this, go back over the relevant parts of the lesson or textbook using your dictionary. If you still do not understand why you have got something wrong, it may be time to contact your tutor.

Grammar covered by AS course

While the order of the topics in this course follows the sequence of the Edexcel text book, the grammar points do not always coincide. At the start of each lesson, you will find textbook links for each grammar point. This means that you can revisit grammar, and that you get chances to practise the grammar in relation to different topics.

The grammar explanations in the course are thorough and you may not be able to take in everything. Don't worry; try and learn the basics and keep practising. Should you decide to go on to A level, you will be able to hone your skills and build on what you have learnt at AS.

You will sometimes see more than four grammar points listed below for a lesson. This is because some are included within coverage of others. The Spanish Grammar Glossary at the back of the course pack gives definitions and lesson references.

The AS level and A-level System

A-levels allow for plenty of flexibility in the taking of exams. The two most popular options are:

- AS is completed at the end of one year and A at the end of the second year;
- AS and A are completed at the end of the same year.

Both of these options are open to students following the OOL Spanish A-level course.

Grading and Shelf-Life

The AS qualification will be graded on a five-point scale: A, B, C, D and E. The full A level qualification will be graded on a six-point scale: A*, A, B, C, D and E.

For both qualifications, candidates who fail to reach the minimum standard for grade E will be recorded as U (unclassified) and will not receive a qualification certificate. Individual assessment unit results will be certificated.

A-levels are designed to be linear, not modular. This means that all units are assessed at the same sitting. If you wish to re-take your A-level at a later date, you will need to take all the units all over again – you cannot “carry forward” your marks for certain papers.

The AS Spanish Examination

This information is correct at the time of publication but may be subject to change. Prior to the examination, students should contact the exam board for the latest information.

This course is designed to match the requirements of the Pearson Edexcel Level 3 Advanced Subsidiary GCE in Spanish (8SP0) specification. The exam consists of three papers (parts).

See Lesson 16 for more details.

A-level specification (Edexcel 9SP0): structure of exams

Like the AS level, the full A-level consists of three papers/units:

Paper 1: Listening, reading and translation (*Paper code: 9SP0/01)

Written examination: 2 hours

40% of the qualification 80 marks

This paper draws on vocabulary and structures across all four themes. Themes are based on the society and culture of the language being studied. Students are not permitted access to a dictionary during the examination. The examination is made up of:

Section A: Listening (30 marks) A listening assessment based on a recording, featuring male and female Spanish speakers. Students will respond to comprehension questions based on a variety of contexts and sources.

Section B: Reading (30 marks) A reading assessment based on a variety of text types and genres where students will have to respond to comprehension questions.

Section C: Translation into English (20 marks) An unseen passage to be translated from Spanish to English.

Paper 2: Written response to works and translation (*Paper code: 9SP0/02)

Written examination: 2 hours and 40 minutes

30% of the qualification 120 marks

This paper draws on the study of two discrete Spanish works: either two literary texts, or one literary text and one film. The works must be taken from the list provided in the Edexcel specification's Appendix 2: Prescribed literary texts and films. The literary texts listed include a range of novels, novellas, short stories and plays. All of the films are feature length.

This paper includes a translation exercise and two essays on either two literary texts, or one literary text and one film (students must not answer questions on two films). Students are not permitted access to a dictionary or any documentation relating to the works during the examination.

Section A: Translation (20 marks) Students translate an unseen passage from English into Spanish.

Section B: Written response to works (literary texts) (50 marks) Students must write an extended response on either one or two of the literary texts listed in Appendix 2: Prescribed literary texts and films. Students select one question from a choice of two for each of their chosen literary text(s). If a student answers questions on two literary texts then they do not complete Section C.

Section C: Written response to works (films) (50 marks) Students who answer only one question from a literary text in Section B must now write an extended response on one of the films listed in Appendix 2: Prescribed literary texts and films. Students select one question from a choice of two for their chosen film.

This course assumes that candidates will take Section B, not Section C, and two literary texts have been selected for detailed study.

Paper 3: Speaking (*Paper code: 9SP0/03)

Internally conducted and externally assessed
Total assessment time: between 21 and 23 minutes, which includes a single period of 5 minutes' formal preparation time.
30% of the qualification 72 marks

Task 1 draws on vocabulary and structures across all four themes (listed on pages 8–9).

Task 2 is based on independent research selected and carried out by the student. The research may be based on one of the themes or on the student's own subject of interest related to the society and culture of the language studied.

Students will be assessed on their ability to use a range of language accurately, communicate and interact effectively, summarise and analyse findings from written sources relating to their research subject, and show knowledge and understanding about the culture and society where the language is spoken.

Task 1 is worth 30 marks and Task 2 is worth 42 marks.

Task 1 (discussion on a Theme): Students discuss one Theme from the specification based on a stimulus containing two different statements.

Task 2, Part 1 (independent research presentation): Students present a summary of at least two of the written sources they have used for their research and give a personal response to what they have read.

Task 2, Part 2 (discussion on independent research): Students answer questions on their presentation and then have a wider discussion on their research.

Themes and sub-themes

Papers 1 and 3 will be based on content from the following four themes. The four themes address a range of social issues and trends, as well as aspects of the political and artistic culture of Spain and Spanish-speaking countries. Themes 1, 3, and 4 focus on aspects of society or history of Spain only. Theme 2 requires students to broaden their knowledge across any Spanish-speaking country/countries and/or community/communities. Each theme is broken into three sub-themes (highlighted in bold). These sub-themes are each exemplified further.

Theme 1 is set in the context of Spain only. This theme covers social issues and trends.

Tips and Techniques

Listening comprehensions

When tackling a listening exercise, read the question first. Look out for key words and phrases to help your understanding. Are there any clues in the questions as to what is happening, and who is talking, i.e. what is the context of the question?

Next, listen to the passage/dialogue all the way through. Perhaps the first time you won't understand a great deal of what is being said. Look out for extra clues – perhaps the speakers are asking questions, in which case their voices will rise (rising intonation). Perhaps their voices betray some emotion; happiness, relief, seriousness, anger or amusement.

The next stage is to play the passage/dialogue over in short sections, working on the questions as you go along. Don't just listen for the answers you are expecting; there may be 'twists' in what is said.

If you come across a phrase you don't understand, play the phrase over again. Sometimes a second or third hearing helps the brain to 'unscramble' the words.

Once you have done your best, play the whole passage/dialogue over once again. You will notice now that there is an improvement in your comprehension compared with the first time.

Finally, check your answers in the back of the lesson.

Reading Comprehensions

When tackling a reading comprehension passage, start by reading the title and questions for clues as to the context. They may tell you key information about the setting, the characters and the ideas in a passage.

Next, read the whole passage to get the gist, or main message. If you need to look up words in a dictionary (and nearly everyone does), choose a core of words, no more than 10% of the passage, that are the most important. These are the key words that are either repeated or seem vital to an understanding of the passage. If after doing this, you still don't know what the passage is about, it is probably too difficult for you, and you should return to it at a later date when you have acquired a wider vocabulary and more grammar skills. Sometimes a verb can be difficult to recognise, in which case you should check a verb table or your verb book.

Finally, work through the passage again, answering the questions.

You do need to practise writing grammatically, in order to convey your answer clearly and unambiguously.

Essay Writing

First, plan your essay. A good idea is to use a planning grid. The grid should have three columns:

- main idea
- justification of the idea
- example(s) to back up your point

You need 3 or 4 ideas for an AS essay. If the question asks you for similarities and differences, or pros and cons, you should start by giving two or three points for one side and then move on to the other, giving the same number of points if you can. This makes the essay clearer to follow.

It is best to jot down your ideas in Spanish. If you write down English ideas, translating them might prove too difficult. You can either conjugate the verbs (add the endings) at this stage, or use infinitives and work out the endings later.

Try to use impressive constructions that you are familiar with. Make sure you correctly agree adjectives.

Organise the paragraphs with connecting words. The easiest are: primero (first of all), además (in addition), finalmente (finally).

Next, write an introduction. When you have written the body of the essay write a general sentence or two to introduce the topic. You could use the device of a rhetorical question to introduce the main body of the essay.

Finally, write a conclusion. Before writing the conclusion, read the essay through again. A conclusion should not contain new ideas, but should sum up the points you have made, and give an overall personal observation on the title.

Speaking naturally

The most important thing about speaking a foreign language naturally is pronunciation and intonation. Listening to Spanish will help with this. Put Spanish radio on in the background and just let it play without paying too much attention to it.

Read through the section on pronunciation and stress in Lesson One until you feel comfortable with it and keep practising the sounds of Spanish.

Learn some words, e.g. pues and bueno to use as gap-fillers.

Don't rush into answers. Take your time and think things through before starting to answer. Say ¡Qué buena pregunta! to give yourself more time. Don't be afraid to ask someone to repeat something if you don't understand the question.

And finally, don't just say all verbs in the infinitive and all adjectives in the masculine singular. Practice conjugating verbs and agreeing adjectives little and often until you feel confident. Remember that you are expected to include a wide range of tenses and structures in your speaking.

Learning Verbs

A good tip when starting out on a language course is to keep a verb book. This is a large exercise book in which you write down the main verbs you come across. The course will point out lesson by lesson the main verbs you need to master for AS level, but you can add your own as you come across them. You can also buy a verb tables book (see General Introduction, Resources). The content of your own verb book is best arranged as follows:

Page
1-2	Table of contents
3	regular -ar verb
4	regular -er verb
5	regular -ir verb etc.

Divide each page into six squares; one for each main tense, i.e. present, perfect, imperfect, preterite and future/conditional, and one for the present subjunctive mood. Leave a space at the top for the infinitive and a space at the bottom for notes on more advanced tenses/forms, such as the present participle, imperative, imperfect subjunctive, pluperfect, future perfect and conditional perfect.

Here is a completed page with an example of a regular -ar verb, hablar – to speak/talk:

Regular -ar verb: hablar to speak/talk
Present (yo) hablo (tú) hablas (él/ella) habla (nosotros) hablamos (vosotros) habláis (ellos) hablan	Perfect he hablado has hablado ha hablado hemos hablado habéis hablado han hablado
Imperfect hablaba hablabas	Preterite hablé hablaste

hablaba hablábamos hablabais hablaban	habló hablamos hablasteis hablaron
Future/Conditional Hablaré/ía Hablarás/ías Hablará/ía Hablaremos/íamos Hablaréis/íais Hablarán/ían	Present subjunctive hable hables hable hablemos habléis hablen
Notes on other tenses Present participle – hablando Imperative – habla (tú), hablad (vosotros) Imperfect subjunctive - hablara Pluperfect – había hablado Future (cond.) perfect – habré/ía hablado

Learning Vocabulary

One of the main differences between GCSE and A level Spanish is that at A level there is no defined list of vocabulary. A level students are expected to read as widely as possible within the subject areas, noting down vocabulary and learning it as they go along. There is no 'right' way to learn vocabulary. What works for you is the right way, so the following are suggestions only.

Using a Vocabulary Book

- Keep a vocabulary book. Add to it on a regular basis, perhaps weekly, perhaps every time you study.
- Set out your vocabulary book in two columns; Spanish one side, English the other. Cover up the English or the Spanish and try to translate the words in the other column.
- Use a good dictionary to check meaning. Be sure that you get the correct meaning, e.g. 'fan' can be 'ventilador' (the machine) or 'aficionado' (the person). If the translations of individual words don't make sense, it may be an expression. A good dictionary will include common expressions under the key word(s), e.g. 'dar los buenos días' doesn't mean 'give the good days', but rather 'say "good day/morning"'.
- Write down verbs in the infinitive, and give the English infinitive as the meaning, e.g. dar – to give.
- Write down nouns with their gender (m or f).
- Consider keeping separate sections for verbs, adjectives, adverbs, etc. or dividing your book alphabetically.
- If there are any irregularities, note them down, e.g. irregular verbs, noun plurals, adjectival endings.

- Try to pick out the key words in a passage. If you spend time looking up everything it becomes tedious.

Retaining vocabulary

- The lists of vocabulary at the end of each reading activity and listening transcript cover vocabulary that may be unfamiliar to you. Use them as a starting point for learning vocabulary.
- Set aside time to learn vocabulary. If you can make it part of your daily routine it is easier, for instance on the bus/train to work or school, or in your lunch hour.
- Learn a certain number of words per day, or per week. Write down a target, e.g. "I am going to learn 5/10 words a day".
- Record the vocabulary on sound files. Play them back to yourself in the car, on your daily commute or at home.
- Write lists of vocabulary and pin them up round the house.
- Link new vocabulary to familiar words or sounds or give it an action or a tune. Try fitting words and phrases to a song you know well and singing it.
- Narrate your life as you live it (in your head!). Talk to yourself about your opinions on what is happening around you.
- Tune in to the sound of new words. Use the listening CD and material from the internet as well. If you have friends who are native Spanish speakers, ask them to say new words for you.

Using Accents

In Lesson One you will find a section on pronunciation, accents and stress. For those of you who wish to type your TMAs, here is a quick guide to including accents:

Method 1 – using the Alt key

Hold down the Alt key while typing in the following numbers on your number keyboard (ensure that 'num lock' is on):

á = 0225	Á = 0193	ñ = 164
é = 0233	É = 0201	Ñ = 165
í = 0237	Í = 0205	¡ = 0161
ó = 0243	Ó = 0211	¿ = 0191
ú = 0250	Ú = 0218

Method 2 – using online accent keys

Go to www.spanish.typeit.org. Write your text in the box provided, then copy and paste it into a Word document.

Method 3 – using 'insert symbol' in your document

If you are using word processing software such as Microsoft Word, go to 'Insert' and from the drop-down menu choose 'symbol'. In the 'normal' range you will find accents, the cedilla, and the inverted question/exclamation marks.

And finally...

Spanish is an enjoyable, challenging and rewarding subject. It is not just a useful educational qualification and it may well contribute to your professional life.

¡Buena suerte! We hope you enjoy the course.
